Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 15 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Sunny spells and feeling very warm in the east.

Today:
A dry start with sunny spells through the morning. Patchy cloud lingering longest towards the south. Plenty of sunny spells through the afternoon and feeling very warm towards the east. Maximum temperature 24 deg C (75 deg F).

Tonight:
Remaining dry with sunny spells into the evening. Cloud and wind however increasing from the northwest overnight with some drizzle at times. Clear spells lasting longest further east. Minimum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Wednesday:
Cloudy towards the west through Wednesday with outbreaks of rain. Largely dry with sunny spells in the southeast, before it turns increasingly cloudy later with the risk of heavy showers. Maximum temperature 24 deg C (75 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Heavy showers clearing early on Thursday and turning brighter later. Sunny spells for most on Friday and Saturday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.